

The first time my brother and myself left Travancore on professional work was in 1878 when we were invited to Pudukota [Pudukkottai] by the late Raja at the instruction of Ms Sesthriasastri. My brother had accompanied by one of his cousins and brother-in-law undertaken a pilgrimage to Mukambika Temple on the West Coast of Malabar in 1870. This was the first time that Brother left home. I was then too young to go with him.

Wrote [a] reply to the letter of the Raja of Tehri in which he said that V~udeva Reswal119 who was under trial for some offence would be punished. Whether it was true that he had been convicted once before in Travancore. We had no knowledge of it and he was recommended by H.H. the late First Prince who would not have done so if he had been convicted.
